SMARTCORE Ultra and Pro are popular 100% waterproof luxury vinyl plank (LVP) lines available at Lowe's. Pro features commercial-grade durability with a thicker 20 mil wear layer and rigid limestone core, while Ultra offers high-definition textures and styles with a 12 mil wear layer. Both include attached underlayment pads. Houzz +2

Key Differences: Ultra vs. Pro

- SMARTCORE Ultra: 8 mm thick, 12 mil wear layer. Focuses heavily on hyper-realistic visuals, embossing, and varied wood-look styles.
- SMARTCORE Pro: 6 mm thick, 20 mil wear layer. Uses a rigid composite core designed for heavy residential traffic or commercial spaces. Houzz +2

Pros and Cons from User Reviews

- Pros:
  - Waterproofing: Highly praised by homeowners for handling moisture, spills, and heavy bathroom/kitchen use without buckling.
  - Comfort & Sound: The attached underlayment provides a softer feel underfoot and dampens walking noise.
  - Appearance: Realistic textures and beveled edges give it a closer resemblance to natural hardwood compared to flat-faced budget competitors. YouTube · Cody Strate +1
- Cons:
  - Installation Quirks: On online forums like Houzz, user experiences with the click-lock system are mixed; some DIYers report difficulty locking short ends tightly without a tapping block or rubber mallet.
  - Wear Layer/Scratching: While Pro's 20 mil layer handles pets well, some reviewers note that sharper impacts or heavy furniture can still dent or scratch the surface if dragged. Hou... +1
